

Neuropathologist
Michigan Medicine/University of Michigan
Department of Pathology

ANN ARBOR, MICHIGAN. The Department of Pathology at Michigan Medicine is seeking an experienced M.D. or M.D., Ph.D. neuropathologist for a clinical track appointment. Clinical and/or research expertise in a recognized subspecialty area of neuropathology is desired but not required.

The Department has a vibrant neuropathology section that provides care for patients at Michigan Medicine and through our robust consultation and outreach practices. Our active neuropathology service accessions approximately 2,450 cases annually, including 800 neurosurgical specimens, 1,400 consultation cases, and 250 nerve and muscle biopsies. The autopsy and forensics service provides opportunities to examine over 150 brains annually. The Neuropathology Fellowship is accredited for two fellows. A large residency program and numerous subspecialty fellowships provide unique and varied teaching opportunities. The successful candidate will participate in the clinical and academic activities of the Department, including collaborative research projects and educational programs.

The appointment will be at an Assistant, Associate, or Full Professor (Clinical Track) level, commensurate with the candidate's experience, accomplishments, and record of academic achievements. Excellent diagnostic and communication skills, and board certification in Anatomic and Neuropathology, are required.

The Department of Pathology has over 214 faculty and consistently ranks in the top 10 nationally for NIH funding for the past decade. The laboratory serves patients and world-class providers at Michigan Medicine Health as well as patients referred through our national reference laboratory service, MLabs. Ann Arbor is ranked one of the most livable, best educated, and best cities for retirement in the country.

Interested candidates, please submit a curriculum vitae, cover letter, and three references to:

Andrew Lieberman, M.D., Ph.D.
Neuropathology Section Head
Department of Pathology
liebermn@med.umich.edu

The University of Michigan is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.