

NEUROPATHOLOGIST

Akron Children's Hospital is dedicated to building a diverse workforce – one that reflects our patient population and represents the communities we serve. Whether you're a resident, a physician early in your career, or a seasoned physician with years of experience, Akron Children's Hospital has something different that's hard to explain. You feel it in the atmosphere as soon as you enter through the doors. You experience it every day with your colleagues, staff, patients, and their families. Once you're here, you know you're home.

We are actively seeking a talented Neuropathologist to become an integral part of our expanding team. This represents an opportunity to join a well-established group comprising eight dedicated Pathologists, including one other Neuropathologist, and four PhD laboratory directors at one of the nation's best free-standing children's hospitals.

Akron Children's has two high-complexity laboratories in the region, offering everything from routine tests to those requiring sophisticated instruments and techniques that allow us to take care of our highly complex patients. There is ample opportunity to engage in clinically oriented research.

Our laboratories for cytogenetics, microbiology, and electron microscopy, as well as our fetal and other specialty pediatric pathology services, are the only ones of their kind among area hospitals and serve as regional referral centers. The department has a Pediatric Pathology fellowship program which provides exceptional training. Academic appointment at Northeast Ohio Medical University is available and commensurate with experience.

The successful candidate will have board certification in Neuropathology and Anatomic Pathology; additional training in Clinical Pathology and/or Pediatric Pathology is a plus.

This position is a 501(c)(3) site which qualifies for Public Service Loan Forgiveness through the Federal government.
